Updated Training!
Substance Use Disorder Confidentiality

The Pennsylvania Department of Drug & Alcohol Programs (DDAP) is pleased to announce the availability of the updated online training module for Substance Use Disorder Confidentiality through TrainPA. This update includes changes that were brought on as a result of the signing of Act 33 on July 7, 2022 by Governor Wolf.

This training is a review of the relevant confidentiality laws and regulations protecting the privacy of those seeking and receiving services for substance use disorders and is designed to help participants gain the basic knowledge needed to effectively perform their job duties within the parameters of confidentiality protections.

You will receive 3 hours of PCB continuing education credit for completing this online training.

DDAP has removed the in-person training from our catalog, and this online module will be the only method available to complete this training.
